Garretson Resolution Group Acquired by Epiq

CINCINNATI – January 7, 2019 — Garretson Resolution Group \(GRG\), a tech-enabled, expert services provider of mass tort, class action and other high volume legal dispute resolutions announced today it has been acquired by Epiq, a global leader in the legal services industry.

Founded in 1998 by Matt Garretson and Jason Wolf, GRG has been a leader in the mass tort and medical lien industry with unmatched expertise managing the complexities associated with healthcare lien resolution and settlement administration.

“We have always believed GRG’s next strategic chapter should involve combining its market-leading mass tort services with a market-leading class action and claims administrator, allowing our clients to benefit from broader expertise and increased economies of scale,” said Matt Garretson, GRG founder. “We have long-admired Epiq and have discussed partnership numerous times over the past several years. We are eager to become part of the Epiq family.”

“GRG is a recognized expert and combining creates a more comprehensive solution and deeper bench of expertise in mass tort that we can now offer our clients,” said Bob Hopen, president Epiq class action and corporate restructuring.

“As a combined organization, we are building a stronger future in this space together, while continuing to deliver excellence and greater scale to our clients,” said Jeff Elliott, president and chief executive officer, GRG.

The companies will continue to operate with both the Epiq and GRG brands in place for a brief time while we focus on integrating operations in early 2019.
